

JET LINX / EAGLE CREEK ALLIANCE EXPANDS AVIATION SERVICES IN INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, IN (February 27, 2017) – Jet Linx Aviation and Eagle Creek Aviation Services are pleased to announce the formation of a strategic relationship. The partnership will enhance the efficiency of Eagle Creek’s aircraft charter and management company, First Wing, and expand Jet Linx’s local presence and service operations to include Eagle Creek Airpark (EYE), thus growing customer charter options in Central Indiana.

Integrating First Wing’s managed aircraft fleet into the Jet Linx operational network will supplement fleet utilization providing operating efficiencies for both companies. Based at Eagle Creek Airpark (EYE), Eagle Creek Aviation Services provides full FBO services along with expert aircraft maintenance capabilities. The primary base operations for Jet Linx is from their private terminal at Indianapolis International Airport (IND), with satellite local services provided at the Indianapolis Executive Airport (TYQ).

“The addition of First Wing’s managed jets to our aircraft options in the Indianapolis metropolitan area reinforces our commitment to provide the best local service to our clients,” said Brent Claymon, Jet Linx Indianapolis Base Partner. “Strategically, First Wing and Eagle Creek Aviation Services are ideal partners for us and for our Jet Card Members.”

“Through our alliance with Jet Linx, we will have higher utilization of our managed aircraft, and more importantly, provide more options for our Indianapolis Area charter clientele. This relationship will also allow for further expansion of our aircraft maintenance services and the FBO/Flight Support operations at Eagle Creek Airpark, Indianapolis Executive and Naples, FL airports,” said Matthew Hagans, Founder & CEO of Eagle Creek Aviation Services. “The presence and quality of the Jet Linx fleet and their business model strengthens our local reputation by having private aviation facilities of choice in Central Indiana.”
